Aesop’s Fables
Book & Lyrics by Catherine Bush  Music by Ben Mackel
*Especially for Grades K-8

By the Barter Players, Barter Theatre, Spring 2012

(NOTE: standards listed below are for both reading Aesop’s Fables and seeing a performance.)

Virginia SOLs
English – K.1, K.8, 1.1, 1.9, 2.1, 2.8, 3.1, 3.4, 3.5, 4.4, 4.5, 6.4, 7.5, 8.5
Theatre Arts – M.6, M.8, M.9, M.13, M.14
Music – K.11, K.12, 1.11, 1.12, 2.10, 2.11, 3.14, 3.15, 4.14, 4.15, 5.12, 5.13, MS.7, MS.8

Tennessee TCAPS
English/Language Arts – K.1.02, K.1.07, K.1.13, 1.1.01, 1.1.02, 1.1.07, 1.1.13, 2.1.01,
2.1.02, 2.1.07, 2.1.13, 3.1.01, 3.1.02, 3.1.07, 3.1.13, 4.1.01, 4.1.06, 4.1.12, 5.1.01, 5.1.06,
5.1.12, 6.1.06, 6.1.12, 6.1.13, 7.1.12, 7.1.13, 8.1.12, 8.1.13
Music – K.6.0, 1.8.0, 2.8.1, 3.8.0, 4.8.0, 5.8.0  Music 6th-8th – 8.0
Theatre Arts – Level I, II, III
Theatre 6th-8th Grade – 6.0, 7.0, 8.0

North Carolina SCOS
Theatre Arts – K.7.05, K.8.03, 1.7.05, 1.8.04, 2.7.01, 2.7.05, 2.8.04, 2.8.06, 3.7.05, 3.7.07, 3.8.01, 3.8.04, 3.8.05, 4.7.06, 4.7.07, 4.7.09, 4.8.01, 4.8.04, 5.7.07, 5.7.09, 5.8.04,
6.7.01, 6.7.03, 6.7.07, 7.7.01, 7.7.03, 8.7.01, 8.7.04, 8.7.06
Music – K.7.02, K.8.01, 1.7.02, 1.8.01, 2.7.03, 2.8.01, 3.7.03, 3.8.02, 4.7.03, 4.8.02, 5.7.03, 5.8.02, 6.7.04, 6.8.01, 7.7.04, 7.8.03, 8.7.04, 8.8.01
English Language Arts – K.2.02, 1.2.02, 2.3.02, 2.3.04, 3.3.01, 4.3.01, 5.3.01, 6.1.02, 7.1.02, 8.1.02

Setting
Various locations in ancient Greece, including the House of Xanthus, a wealthy landowner, the fields and forest surrounding his home and the arena in which the local games are held. The year is 580 B.C.
Characters

_Aesop_ – a Greek slave and master storyteller
_Xanthus_ – his master, bitter and angry
_Calliope_ – wife to Xanthus
_Guard_ servant to Xanthus
_Lion_ – a beast with a thorn in his paw
_Oak_ – a mighty oak tree, proud
_Reed_ – a tender reed, flexible
_Wind_ – the wind
_Fox_ – a sly fox with a gorgeous tail
_Huntsman_ – a hunter in the woods
_Beast_ – a ferocious, savage beast
_Daughter_ – the Huntsman’s daughter
_Shepherd_ – a boy who cries “wolf”
_Wolf_ – a wolf
_Hare_ – a very fast rabbit
_Tortoise_ – a very slow tortoise
_Sheep_ – the wolf in sheep’s clothing

Note: Cast Size and Doubling of Actors

In this production of _Aesop’s Fables_ we will be using only six actors, with some actors playing more than one role. Doubling of actors requires distinction between characters. In this production, characters will be distinguished by costume, voice and other physical character traits.

Synopsis

Aesop, a Greek slave, has escaped from his cruel master Xanthus. In the forest he discovers a wounded Lion with a thorn in his paw. When Aesop removes the thorn, the Lion pledges his gratitude but is unable to prevent Aesop’s capture and subsequent return to the house of his master. Xanthus, heartbroken and bitter over the recent death of his wife Calliope, is determined to put Aesop to death for escaping. Aesop’s only hope for salvation is to regale Xanthus with stories whose lessons not only help Xanthus cope with his suffering but help him remember happier times with Calliope as well. So it is that we hear various fables including _The Oak and the Reed_ (it is better to bend than to break), _The Fox Without a Tail_ (misery loves company), _The Beast in Love_ (love tames the wild beast), _The Hare and the Tortoise_ (slow and steady wins the race) and _The Boy Who Cried Wolf_ (no one believes a liar). But even these stories aren’t enough to persuade Xanthus to change his mind and he orders Aesop to be thrown to the lions. But the Lion charging Aesop is the same one Aesop met in the forest and instead of devouring Aesop, he licks his hand in gratitude. Xanthus is dumbfounded; Aesop explains how he helped the Lion and Xanthus finally recognizes that Aesop has been trying to help him as well. In gratitude he frees Aesop, who stays on to become storyteller to Xanthus, guaranteeing that the memory of Calliope will live on.
Biography of Aesop
Aesop was an Ancient Greek storyteller who lived in the 6th century BC in Athens, Greece. He is famous for several myths, commonly referred to as Aesop’s Fables. Little is known about the life of Aesop. According to historical facts he was a slave; some legends suggest he was a hunchback slave but his real appearance is a mystery. Aesop was also reputed to be smart, resourceful and inventive, qualities that allowed him to eventually acquire his freedom. His stories were passed down orally and weren’t written down until centuries later. Through the use of (mostly) animal protagonists, Aesop’s fables consist of simple tales with moral endings transcending time and place so to be as relevant today as they were millennia ago.

Biography of Catherine Bush – Book & Lyrics
Catherine Bush was born in Battle Creek, MI, grew up in Lexington, KY, spent a lot of fun years in New York City and is currently the Playwright-in-Residence at Barter Theatre in beautiful Abingdon, VA. When she’s not writing plays, she likes to walk the Creeper Trail and refinish furniture. Her works include Just a Kiss (2007 ATCA Steinberg Award Finalist), Wooden Snowflakes, The Frankenstein Summer, The Executioner’s Sons, The Other Side of the Mountain, The Quiltmaker, Tradin’ Paint, Comin’ Up A Storm, The Controversial Rescue of Fatty the Pig, Where Trouble Sleeps, The Road to Appomattox and I’ll Never Be Hungry Again (book & lyrics). Her plays for young audiences include Cry Wolf!, Sleeping Beauty, Rapunzel, Frosty, The Scarlet Letter, My Imaginary Pirate, The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, The Adventures of Tom Sawyer, All I Want For Christmas is My Two Front Teeth, The Red Badge of Courage, The Princess and the Pea, The Call of the Wild, and Rudolph.

Biography of Ben Mackel – Music
Ben Mackel is a native of Hendersonville, North Carolina. While growing up, Ben took theatre classes and acted at The Flat Rock Playhouse. He began writing music while he was in high school and taught himself to play the guitar in college. He received a B.F.A. in musical theatre from Catawba College. In addition to playing the guitar, trumpet and F horn, Ben dabbles with the ukulele, mandolin, fiddle, banjo, cello and uugs. Ben has written the music for three other musicals: Billy-Goat-Gruff: The Musical, The Bremen Town Musicians and The Elves and The Shoemaker. For more info on Ben’s music www.benmackel.com
Did you know…?

The difference between a fable and a parable:

Fable: succinct fictional story, in prose or verse, that features animals, mythical creatures, plants, inanimate objects or forces of nature which are anthropomorphized (given human qualities), and that illustrates a moral lesson (a “moral”), which may at the end be expressed explicitly in a pithy maxim.

The Ant and the Grasshopper

Parable: succinct story, in prose or verse, which illustrates one or more instructive principles, or lessons, or (sometimes) a normative principle. It differs from a fable in that fables use animals, plants, inanimate objects, and forces of nature as characters, while parables generally feature human characters. It is a type of analogy.

The Prodigal Son
Fabulous Fables You’ll See in the Show!

Androcles and the Lion

A slave named Androcles once escaped from his master and fled to the forest. As he was wandering about there he came upon a Lion lying down moaning and groaning. At first he turned to flee, but finding that the Lion did not pursue him, he turned back and went up to him. As he came near, the Lion put out his paw, which was all swollen and bleeding, and Androcles found that a huge thorn had got into it, and was causing all the pain. He pulled out the thorn and bound up the paw of the Lion, who was soon able to rise and lick the hand of Androcles like a dog. Then the Lion took Androcles to his cave, and every day used to bring him meat from which to live. But shortly afterwards both Androcles and the Lion were captured, and the slave was sentenced to be thrown to the Lion, after the latter had been kept without food for several days. The Emperor and all his Court came to see the spectacle, and Androcles was led out into the middle of the arena. Soon the Lion was let loose from his den and rushed bounding and roaring towards his victim. But as soon as he came near to Androcles he recognized his friend, and fawned upon him, and licked his hands like a friendly dog. The Emperor, surprised at this, summoned Androcles to him, who told him the whole story. Whereupon the slave was pardoned and freed, and the Lion let loose to his native forest.

Gratitude is the sign of noble souls.

The Oak and the Reed

A very large Oak was uprooted by the wind and thrown across a stream. It fell among some Reeds, which it thus addressed: “I wonder how you, who are so light and weak, are not entirely crushed by these strong winds.” They replied, “You fight and contend with the wind, and consequently you are destroyed; while we on the contrary bend before the least breath of air, and therefore remain unbroken, and escape.

It is better to bend than to break
The Fox without a Tail

It happened that a Fox caught its tail in a trap, and in struggling to release himself lost all of it but the stump. At first he was ashamed to show himself among his fellow foxes. But at last he determined to put a bolder face upon his misfortune, and summoned all the foxes to a general meeting to consider a proposal which he had to place before them. When they had assembled together the Fox proposed that they should all do away with their tails. He pointed out how inconvenient a tail was when they were pursued by their enemies, the dogs; how much it was in the way when they desired to sit down and hold a friendly conversation with one another. He failed to see any advantage in carrying about such a useless encumbrance. “That is all very well,” said one of the older foxes; “but I do not think you would have recommended us to dispense with our chief ornament if you had not happened to lose it yourself.”

Misery loves company

The Beast in Love

Note: in the original story, the Beast is actually a Lion. The name was changed in this play in order not to confuse the audience with Androcles’ Lion.

A Beast once fell in love with a beautiful maiden and proposed marriage to her parents. The old people did not know what to say. They did not like to give their daughter to the Beast, yet they did not wish to enrage the savage. At last the father said “We feel highly honored by your proposal, sir, but you see our daughter is a tender young thing, and we fear that in the vehemence of your affection you might possibly do her some injury. Might I suggest that you have your claws removed, and your teeth extracted – then we would gladly consider your proposal again.” The Beast was so much in love that he had his claws removed and his big teeth taken out. But when he came again to the parents of the young girl they simply laughed in his face, and bade him do his worst.

Love can tame the wild beast
The Hare and the Tortoise

The Hare was once boasting of his speed before the other animals. “I have never yet been beaten,” said he, “when I put forth my full speed. I challenge any one here to race with me.”

The Tortoise said quietly, “I accept your challenge.”

“That is a good joke,” said the Hare; “I could dance round you all the way.”

“Keep your boasting till you’ve beaten,” answered the Tortoise. “Shall we race?”

So a course was fixed and a start was made. The Hare darted almost out of sight at once, but soon stopped and, to show his contempt for the Tortoise, lay down to have a nap. The Tortoise plodded on and plodded on, and when the Hare awoke from his nap, he saw the Tortoise just near the winning-post and could not run up in time to save the race. Then said the Tortoise...

Slow and steady wins the race

The Boy Who Cried Wolf

A Shepherd Boy, who watched a flock of sheep near a village, brought out the villagers three or four times by crying out, “Wolf! Wolf!” and when his neighbors came to help him, laughed at them for their pains. The Wolf, however, did truly come at last. The Shepherd-boy, now really alarmed, shouted in an agony of terror, “Pray, do come and help me; the Wolf is killing the sheep,” but no one paid any heed to his cries, nor rendered any assistance. The Wolf, having no cause of fear, at his leisure destroyed the whole flock.

No one believes a liar
WORD SEARCH

Find the following words below: Aesop, fables, tortoise, hare, lion, shepherd, slow and steady, Xanthus, Calliope, boy who cried wolf, oak, reed, wind, fox without a tail, gratitude, nobility, beast, teeth, claws, race, challenge, love, freedom, thorn.
True and False

Write T if the statement is True and F if the statement is False.

1. ____ Aesop was a slave in the American South.
2. ____ A “fable” is the same thing as a “parable.”
3. ____ The Tortoise won the race because he was the fastest.
4. ____ The Reed was much more flexible than the Oak.
5. ____ The Fox was happy to lose his tail.
6. ____ The Lion had a thorn in his paw.
7. ____ The Hare took a nap during the race with the Tortoise.
8. ____ The moral of the Oak and the Reed is “misery loves company.”
9. ____ The Beast (Lion) had his teeth removed because of cavities.
10. ____ The Shepherd Boy initially cried “Wolf” as a joke.
11. ____ The Lion killed Androcles in the arena.
12. ____ The moral of The Hare and the Tortoise is “slow and steady wins the race.”
13. ____ The other foxes chose to keep their tails.
14. ____ “The Prodigal Son” is an example of a fable.

Matching

Match the person or place in the first column with the corresponding description in the second.

1. The Reed a. extremely boastful of his tail
2. Lion b. a liar
3. Tortoise c. Greek slave
4. Fox d. very flexible
5. Hare e. predator of sheep
6. Wolf f. injured paw
7. The Oak g. proud and unbending
8. Aesop h. fastest creature in the forest
9. Shepherd Boy i. won the race
Color the picture below.
Questions/Activities

1. What function does a fox’s tail serve? What do you think happened to the Fox after he lost his tail in the trap?

2. Using the Internet and the library as resources, research how is the fox related to the wolf. Present your findings to the class.

3. Characters in a play or a book always have a reason for doing what they do. This is called their “motivation.” What motivates Androcles to help the Lion? The Tortoise to race the Hare? The Shepherd Boy to cry wolf the first time? Discuss.

4. What is the difference between a tortoise and a turtle? Between a rabbit and a hare? Make a chart comparing these animals and present your findings to the class.

5. Which of these animals is actually the fastest: the lion, the wolf, the hare or the fox? Rank them in order from fastest to slowest.

6. Why do you think Aesop used animals in his stories? Why do you think his fables have remained popular to this day?

7. Animals such as lions, wolves, foxes and turtles are the inspiration for many songs, television shows and movies. Pick one of these animals – for example, the lion – and put together a collage of all the famous lions in pop culture. Present it to your class.

8. This play was adapted from various fables attributed to Aesop. In what ways are the play and the fables similar? How are they different? Why are they different?

9. How many characters are in this play? How many actors? What do the actors change, besides their costumes, to become new characters?

10. Locations onstage are called “settings.” What are the various settings of this play?
11. What was your favorite part in the play Aesop’s fables? Write a paragraph retelling that part in your own words.

12. Write a letter to the actors from this production. Tell them what you liked about the play, their performance, etc. Mail your letters to:

The Barter Players
c/o Barter Theatre
P.O. Box 867
Abingdon, VA 24212-0867
ATTN: Aesop’s Fables

13. Pick another fable from Aesop’s collection and write your own script for it. Keep in mind that, in theatre, the story should be told in dialogue (conversation between two or more characters) and action (what the characters do). Make sure that each one of your characters in the scene has a reason (a motivation) for being in the scene.

14. After you’ve finished your script, design the set that suits the needs for your scene. Keep in mind time, place and location. Is it on a hillside? In a cave? Is it day or night? Summer or winter? Also consider the entrances and exits of your characters. How do they enter the scene? How do they exit? Draw a picture of what your set should look like. Then make a model of it and present it to your class, explaining how it will work when built.

15. “Props” (short for properties) are the objects a character uses in a scene. For example, if the Shepherd Boy carried a staff, the staff would be considered a prop. Determine the props your characters will need in the scene you’ve scripted and create a prop list. Hint: Keep it simple. Unless a prop is absolutely necessary, don’t use it.

16. Now that you have your script, set, and props, design the costumes you’ll need for your scene. Again, keep in mind time and place. Draw a picture of the costumes you would need to turn an actor into a grasshopper or an ant or a crow, etc. Make it elaborate or as simple as you desire, but keep in mind the need for a character to speak and move comfortably and your ability to make the costume. Once you have your drawing (renderings) completed, make your costumes.

17. Working with other students, rehearse the scene you have scripted and using your costumes and props (and set, if possible), present the scene to your class. What did you learn about theatre from this process? Was there any aspect of the production process that you liked better than others? Why?
18. The play you saw is a musical which means that some of the story is told in song. Pick another one of Aesop’s fables and using a well-known tune, write lyrics that tell the story.

Vocabulary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>slave</th>
<th>lush</th>
<th>claws</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>brute</td>
<td>refined</td>
<td>investigate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>punish</td>
<td>lavish</td>
<td>inedible</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>thorn</td>
<td>sumptuous</td>
<td>mutton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>inspection</td>
<td>bombastic</td>
<td>elude</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>superior</td>
<td>appearance</td>
<td>demonstrate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>brawn</td>
<td>shame</td>
<td>philosophy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>majestic</td>
<td>appendage</td>
<td>haste</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>shroud</td>
<td>inevitable</td>
<td>vanity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>frivolous</td>
<td>humiliation</td>
<td>arrogance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>zephyr</td>
<td>ponder</td>
<td>dispute</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>aloft</td>
<td>solution</td>
<td>claim</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>whirlwind</td>
<td>cloying</td>
<td>challenge</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>scurry</td>
<td>recognize</td>
<td>persistence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>reed</td>
<td>misery</td>
<td>pace</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>tempest</td>
<td>company</td>
<td>sorcerer</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>asunder</td>
<td>cruel</td>
<td>gratitude</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>uprooted</td>
<td>ferocious</td>
<td>nobility</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>pride</td>
<td>fangs</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Suggested Further Reading:

Androcles and the Lion by Dennis Nolan

The Really Groovy Story of the Tortoise and the Hare by Kristyn Crow and Christina Forshay